

Tough Times Call for Organized Bargaining

Your officer and chief steward team has been brainstorming a new approach for this year's Contract Campaign in the face of tough economic times. We are eager to share our thoughts and to hear yours as we move closer to bargaining our contract. Now more than ever we must think creatively and strategically.

However, first we must address the concerns and questions we have been fielding regarding the recently proposed fringe benefit changes. To have the necessary dialogue Local 200United's leadership has requested release time so we can have small-group meetings at your worksite. The changes that were announced on campus are a draft. The Chancellor is seeking our thoughts and ideas before she presents the final changes to the Board of Trustees.

From the beginning your union was engaged in the process. Our own Doug McClure was one of the participants on
